Hard Work vs Smart Work:

Smart work:-

• Advantages of Smart work:-

- Smart work is intellectual. Hence it improves our innovative and creative thinking skills.
- Smart work improves productivity.
- It teaches time management skills.
- Because of smart work, we now have more free time. For example, modern transport systems reduced effort and time in moving to another place.
- Smart work forces us to concentrate on work fully because it demands mental presence too.

• Disadvantages of Smart work:-

- Smart work may make us lazy, as we get used to doing less work and get more output.
- Mere smart work may not yield results. "Hard work beats talent when talent doesn't work hard". Hence we cannot completely rely on smart work.
- To work smartly, at first we need knowledge about the work, which comes only with hard work and experience.

- We cannot teach hard work to smart working persons if they are not willing to work hard.

Hard work:-

• Advantages of Hard work:-

- Through hard work, we gain knowledge and experience. This will help us to do smart work, that means we can then analyse shortcuts to do the same amount of work.
- Hard work teaches us patience and discipline.
- The result of hard work will be more appealing to us because we put a lot of effort into achieving it.
- Everyone will choose hardworking persons to work under them.
- We can teach smart work to hard-working people and we can be sure about the improved productivity because they work hard.

• Disadvantages of Hard work:-

- Hard work may become boring and monotonous.
- It consumes a lot of time and effort.
- If we fail after doing so much hard work, it'll be very difficult to cope up with it.
