In Favor:-

- Through privatization, quality of education will be good.
- It's difficult for govt. to maintain all schools and colleges. So, it's better to give some responsibility to private people.
- Students will become familiar with competitive world.
- Some private institutes recommends their students for the jobs in companies.

In Against:-

- Poor people can't afford the fee in private institutes.
- Some Private institutes making students to just byheart the subjects for good scores.
- Even middle class people can't afford private higher education. It leads to decrease in no. of higher professionals in India.
- Without enough knowledge, some people are buying seats in private institutions which results in inefficient professionals such as doctors and engineers without knowledge.
- Most of the private institutes concern about quick profits.

Conclusion:-

In Govt. institutes, quality of education should be improved. Through privatization, quality of education will be good because of competition between private colleges/schools. Privatization of education will be good if the fee is reasonable. Government should control the fee in private schools/colleges.
